In my 40 years of restaurant experience, few new products have impressed me as much as AeroGlove. We have been using the dispenser for about 6 months and our employees love it! They like the system because it's quicker to change gloves, allowing them to service our customers faster. Our management team likes it because it encourages employees to change gloves often, ensuring an exceptionally clean environment without losing efficiency.

Another factor we really enjoy is how easy this product is to use. Once the sensor is activated, the air blower opens the glove automatically and allows our employees to put gloves on without digging into a box. This avoids wasted gloves that have dropped to the floor or an employee stuffing extra gloves back into the box, compromising the cleanliness of the remaining gloves.

With allergies becoming such a huge concern in the industry, prevention of cross contamination is even more crucial. Frequent glove changes are essential and the AeroGlove system is an easy, touch-free way to get our employees on the same page. Since putting the automated dispenser in place, we've seen nearly 100% compliance with glove usage.

The blue color of the glove is also a bonus. It allows our customers to see that we are wearing gloves and changing them frequently, reinforcing our commitment to cleanliness and building customer confidence.

The AeroGlove dispenser system has been a great addition to our restaurant and we plan to continue using it for years to come!
